Simple rules. Small wins. Big changes.

Targeted Problem: Prioritized Groups experiencing most inequities:
	Who is currently engaged in understanding and addressing the targeted problem?	Who else still needs to be engaged in understanding and addressing the targeted problem?
Directly Experiencing the problem
Providing services to those experiencing the problem (e.g., direct service providers across relevant sectors)
Supporting those experiencing the problem at the neighborhood level (e.g., faith-based, neighborhood organizations)
Deciding on changes and how resources are used (e.g., leaders of local cross-sector institutions or organizations, funders, elected officials)
Opposing targeted changes (e.g., those benefiting from the status quo)
